

Beth-Tikva

A home that stands thanks to you

The children arrived midway through the school year, but thanks to your continued support, the 2026–2027 school year is shaping up to be a real success. Your generosity allows the children to eat, study, play, and grow up in a stable environment, despite the country's difficulties.

Our most urgent challenge: food

The biggest challenge we face today is daily nutrition. We only have about ten regular donors. Food prices have risen considerably. Local organizations can no longer help us as they used to due to a lack of resources. Every meal served requires a huge effort, but it is absolutely essential. Your support is vital to maintaining three meals a day.

Our programs continue

Education and self-reliance

Despite the challenges, we continue to offer classes on climate change, computer courses in HTML and Python, and a small indoor chicken coop, which allows us to produce our own eggs.

We have a rich community life: our four dogs, Miki, Boni, Scooby-Doo, and Bruno, bring joy and security. The children chose three of the names themselves.

2026–2027: a decisive year

For our young people

This year, Sebby starts kindergarten. Samica and Jemima continue their medical studies. Carla, Esther, Berson, Svan, and Olivier will enter university.

The two most promising fields for Haiti's future are medicine and agriculture. However, we currently lack the financial resources to cover university costs. We are seeking sponsors who would like to support these motivated young people.

Ready for school.

Clothing and computer equipment

Urgent need: clothing for the little ones

We are looking for clothing for Moïse (11 years old), Michou (9 years old), Zazou (3½ years old), Williams (4 years old), and Sebby (2½ years old). Any clean, gently used clothing in good condition is welcome.

Needed: computer and technology equipment

We need laptops, tablets, and smartphones. Even used devices, as long as they still work, can transform a child's life.

Learning at the computer.

Practical skills at the sewing machine.
